

Interested in hosting a Weatherization Workshop?

About the workshops: PGW provides self-help weatherization workshops for people in the community. The workshops are designed to educate the public on various steps they can take to lower their energy bills and make their homes a more comfortable, healthy environment. Workshops include free weatherization kits (including tube caulk, rope caulk, a window kit, and a door sweep) for all who participate in the workshop.

What we ask from you: We ask that you coordinate with us on a time/place to hold the workshop and that you reach out to invite folks from the community. The workshops are designed for groups of 15-20 people and are presented in a classroom style setting. They tend to last about an hour depending on the presenter and the time constraints of the event. Workshops can be in person (mask required) or by zoom.
